

Tesco

PM: Hello, my name is Peter McMenimee and I work in Tesco 2358 Craigmarloch. My role in Tesco is working on trolley patrol and working on the entertainment. My job suits me because I enjoy working there so much. My work experience was here in Tesco and now I've got a job. My best bit is about getting all the bits done and dusted, getting everything all tidied up, and doing the rumble and stuff, and helping my colleague Mary McCulloch with the entertainment.

AR: I first started working with Peter when I first came to the store actually, so when I started he taught me everything there was to know about entertainment. He's very passionate and very proud, he absolutely loves his job and does it with 100% enthusiasm and effort.

PM: We do stock patrol, checking out the stock with a PDA scanner.

AR: He's really helpful and friendly, anything that you ask him to do he'll do his best, comes back and lets you know how he's getting on, always looking for extra things to do as well so yeah, it's great.

DC: Hello, my name is David Connolly and I work at Craigmarloch Tesco's. I'm a Customer Assistant at the checkouts. Most of my jobs are with customers, either packing their bags, scanning their items and just totally up what they owe for the shop. I've worked for Tesco for 2-3 years, it's organised and it's structured and that suits me because I like things in order of how to do things, and interacting with the different customers, different people and that and getting to know the staff who have been very helpful and very nice and I've just really enjoyed my time.

AR: I've been David's manager in the two departments he's worked in, so in clothing when he first came for work experience. And really it's his confidence that's grown since then, he was a great employee back then, learned a lot, but you can see now he's moved to check outs he's so much more confident and outgoing, talks to customers all the time and is really friendly.
